THE MARRAGANNETT INQUIRY.

Testimony of the Clerk and One of the Pas-Official List of the Lost. New London, July 22 .- In the Narraganatt inquiry to-day William Kierated (colored), a waiter on the Narragansett, testified that after the collision he went through the stateroom hall, knocking at the room doors, and calling passengers, telling them to get out as quickly as possible. He then got out the life eservers in the gangways and the stateroom all, and distributed them to the passengers. He remained in the stateroom hall until the water reached it, and then went out on to the hurricane deck, and remained there until he was taken off. He was positive that when he called the passengers he received a response from every stateroom that was locked.

Peter P. Johnson, a pantryman on the Narraransett, testified that at the time of the collision called all the passengers in the forward did. There were, in his opinion, from fifteen to twenty passengers in the forward cabin that gansett, testified that as soon as the boats struck she called such of the passengers in her sabin as had not left their rooms; then went out on the quarter deck, and there assisted them putting on their life preservers. She was confident that there were no passengers in the schin as had not hit heir rooms: then wend out on the quarter deck, and there sassined them to the quarter deck, and there sassined them to the quarter deck, and there assisted them to the process of t the them in perfect order. Mr. Gale is a clergyman, and is about 70 years of age, his wile is about 64.

The list of the lost on the Narragansett, made up under the direction of the officers of the steamboat company, and iaid in by Clerk Kierman of the Narragansett, is given herewith:

The Rocknway Strikers Quietly Walting.

Thostrike of the carpenters and laborers on the big Rockaway hotel still commines. Foreman Bellly says that the men are quietly awaiting future develop-ments. They express themselves as confident that they will be fully paid by the company. If the workmen had sentinged their labor the hotel would have been com-pleted in one week, including the bathing pavilion with 250 bath rooms. There are very lew of the werkingen 250 bath rooms. There are very (ew of the werkmen who have gone to their homes, and they did so under a promise to return to work as soon as the company were able to discharge terms to work as soon as the company were able to discharge their soon act of violence on the part of the strike return to the contary, they have acted in a most order to the soon maner in attempting to get their dues. The man Conters, who was reported as having been shot vesternlay, was accidently wounded by the discharge of a private in the course of a drunker now in another part of the beach. Home of the men, being turned out of doors by their studiords, were forced to sleep last night on the floor. Mr. Biter, promised these man that to-day he would arend mattrasses for all who needed them. Many of the men resignedly cooked their swon meals along the back, raw asterials having been furnished them by Mr. Hurrows.

FOUR STATE CONVENTIONS.

atic Nominations in Missouri, Ohio.

Sr. Louis, July 22.—The platform adopted by the Democratic Convention in Jefferson City last night accepts and approves the platform adopted by the national Democratic party in Cincinnati; declares that the nomination of Hancock and English means the etrict and con-stitutional subordination of military to civil power, and that sectional asperities will disappear, and the era of good feeling again return throughout the country. It congratulates the people of the State that the administration of the State Government by the Demoerats during the last decade has increased her population, national wealth, and means of social happiness; that the institutions of learning are taking rank among the best in the Union; that nowhere is there a surer reward to honest labor. It declares that the Democratic party will ever encourage and maintain common schools and insti-and maintain common schools and institutions of learning established by the State, It recommends the strictest pre-tice of economy in every department of State Government consistent with the growth, development and necessities of the State, with the most exacting accountability on the part of those intrusted with the custedy and disbursement of the public revenues. It recommends a reduction of the interest on the State delt so soon as it can be honorably and legally done.

Ex-Gov. Willard P. Hall was made Chairman, and D. C. Rennedy, Secretary. A motion to adjourn until this morning was voted down, and Thomas T. Crittenden, Gen. Marmaduke, and James Hockaday were put in nomination for Governor. The call of the roll resulted: Crittenden, 265%: Marmaduke, 80; Hockaday,

ANOTHER ROAD TO ORANGE.

Opening an Old Hallway which Makes

Straight Line Thither. A new route by rail will soon be opened between Orange, N. J., and this city. It is the revival of the old Watchung road, which was run for a short time about eight years ago, but proved a failure, because the depot in Orange was too far from the centre of the town. In April last, Messrs, C. A. Lighhipe, D. N. Ropes, and F. C. O'Reily, three wealthy residents of Orange, waited on Mr. Abram S. Hewitt, receiver of the New York and Greenwood Lake orange, waited on Mr. Abrain S. Hewitt, receiver of the New York and Greenwood Lake road, and made application for the extension and reopening of the Watchung branch. Mr. Hewitt consented if the right of way was setured in Orange without cost to the comeany. The three capitalists raised $10,000, which was ample to purchase the small amount of land, which the owners refused to deed to them, but the bulk of the land was presented.

The road will be extended a distance of three-quarters of a mile from the old terminus at Lakeside avenue to Main street in Orange. The work will be pushed rapidly. The old road bed will be ballasted, and the wooden bridges will be removed and iron bridges substituted. The entire cost of erecting depots and putting the road in order is estimated at $100,000. The road will compete with the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, and have an advantage over the latter in a direct water route, which will enable it to beat the old road at least ten minutes in running time. Negotiations are pending with the Erie road to connect with trains over the Newark branch of that road, which would permit the more frequent running of trains between Orange and this city.
